SHAPE THE FUTURE DATA ECONOMY WITH US

Take your chance and join one of the most innovative startups in the data economy. Become a part of the team and shape the future of digital assets with us.

At Tributech we are building a technology that transforms data into reliable business assets and that pushes companies to the next level of digitalizing their value chain and even beyond.

We are an innovative and young team with novel ideas and ambitious goals. On our journey to transforming data into assets, we are looking for smart and motivated people who share our vision and are ready to join the future of data.

YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR:

- Design and lead the front-end development of our technology for trusted data sharing
- Implement new product features and services or improve existing ones
- Make design decisions as one of the key engineers of our team
- Create (frontend related) service and software architecture concepts
- Work with modern technologies such as Angular, GraphQL, Docker and more

YOU HAVE:

- Completed education with a focus on information technology, (business) computer science, software engineering or media technology (HTL, FH, TU, ...) or equivalent professional experience
- Good typescript programming skills (angular framework)
- Good programming skills in related technologies (Javascript, Node.js)
- Solid knowledge of front-end technologies (HTML 5, CSS3) and methodologies (SPA, PWA, responsive design)
- Experience with code versioning tools (e.g. Git)
- Interest in P2P and DLT technologies
